DETAILED ACTION

1. The Amendment filed in Paper No. 6, February 22, 2002 has been received. According to the Amendment, claims 1-14 have been canceled and new claims 15-32 have been added. Currently, claims 15-32 are pending in the application. Acknowledgment has been made.

2. This application does not contain an abstract of the disclosure as required by 37 CFR 1.72(b). An abstract on a separate sheet is required.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 18, 19, and 24-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 24 is vague and indefinite since it is unclear whether the applicant claims solely on a system or the applicant solely claims on a method. Note, from claimed limitations of claim 24 and dependent claims 25-32, it appears that the applicant intended to claim a system.

In claims 18 and 27, the recited phrase "wherein at least one of said duration and position of said time" lacks antecedent basis.

In claims 19 and 28, the recited phrases of "wherein at least one of said duration" and "said position" lack antecedent basis.

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 15-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Llenas et al. (5,271,626).

Llenas et al. teaches a system and method for announcing key codes (game clues) to TV viewers via the screen of their TV set in establishing contact between selected viewers and an established game program over a telecommunications network (Figs. 5a-7) comprising: a key code generator for generating key code (game clues) to include a plurality of descriptive elements (5:13-27; 7:42-45), the key code being selected randomly among a predetermined number of different key codes (4:34-54); a key code transmitter for transmitting the key code in succession to the TV screens within a plurality of selected time slots within selected time units during at least one TV program and TV commercial spot (4:26-66 and 8:24-41); a line connector for connection of viewers to the game program who are selected as a function of a predetermined number of viewers, who by using the key code manage to establish the contact; the selection of the key code is accomplished automatically (3:1-59); the selection of the time slots is accomplished automatically; duration and position of the time slot within the time unit is selected at random; at least one of duration of descriptive elements of the key code on TV screen and position of descriptive elements within the time slot is selected at random; random selection is made automatically; viewer connection is made via one or more selected from the group consisting of a telephone network and a computer network; and the descriptive elements each comprises one or more selected from the group consisting of symbols, numbers, and letters (Fig. 4a). See also, Figures 2a-7 and columns 1-8.

Note that, the applicant's disclosed key codes which "can be made up completely or partially of, e.g., digits in a telephone number, symbols, letters or combination thereof" (applicant's disclosure, page 3, lines 16-17) are equivalent to Llenas et al.'s clues which comprise letters and digits (3:47-59 and Figures 4a).

7. Applicant's arguments filed in Paper No. 6 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's argument regarding Llenas et al. does not teach the limitation of transmitting key code in succession during at least one of a TV program and commercials (page 7, lines 15-19; and page 8, lines 5-9) is not well taken. Llenas et al. does teach "the clues 84 are aired during regular programming time" (7:53-54) and "In addition, the air time during which the game is conducted may comprise regular television programming slots" (8:35-37).

Further, applicant's statement that Llenas et al. does not teach the use of a successive key code for participating in the game which is played over the telecommunication network (page 8, lines 3-5) is not persuasive. Llenas et al. teaches issuing a telephone number or an address so that viewers may establish game contact (3:47-59).

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3713
